

EXTON PARK
OAKHAM RUTLAND

RUTLAND'S MOST ENCHANTING VENUE

A Unique Venue

The stunning setting of Exton Park in Rutland lies within its own private 12th century park providing a romantic and peaceful backdrop for your wedding or event. Situated between Oakham and Stamford it is accessible without compromising on the quintessentially rural location.

The Hall dates back to 1820 and is the private family home of the Earls of Gainsborough. The beautiful grounds with lakes, landscaped gardens, follies and ruins provide a magical atmosphere.

Religious Ceremonies

Catholic or Church of England

This exquisite Chapel is one of only two full functioning Roman Catholic churches within Rutland and can comfortably accommodate 120 people. In order to get married within the Chapel either the Bride or Groom must be Catholic.

The Chapel

is attached to Exton Hall and can be booked on its own or you can also hold your wedding reception within a marquee on the lawn, a short stroll from the Chapel.

Alternatively

The Church of St Peter and St Paul, Exton

is a Church of England church, rich in history and sits on the edge of the parkland accessed by a beautiful arched garden gate.

Brides and Grooms often use the Chapel or Church and then move seamlessly into the Grounds of the Hall for their marquee reception.

Civil Ceremonies

Fort Henry, a magical gothic folly, sitting beside a large lake and often adorned with water lilies, lies in the heart of Exton Park. The Folly was built in 1788 for Henry, Earl of Gainsborough. Fort Henry is licensed for civil marriages and partnerships. This is a uniquely magical setting and can be combined with various reception options.

Reception and Events

We offer a variety of wedding reception/Events options to suit all budgets and cater for birthday parties and other celebrations.

From a canapé wedding reception for up to 50 guests following a civil ceremony within Fort Henry to a more elaborate marquee wedding reception for 250 guests within the exquisite grounds of Exton Hall. Each venue is simply stunning and offers exclusive use of the area for your wedding and reception or event from the moment your marquee starts being built.
